The Progress Office will be the Official Headquarters for the reception of returns, and no retu... will be received at the office of the county commissioners, or elsewhere as heretofore.

For the accomodation of all who wish to receive the returns, it has been arranged to flash each message on a screen in front of ... Progress Office. This will be done with a Stereopticon machine, and will make it possible to give the news to several hundred peop... ...e. Please do not ask for the returns by 'phone. Come down town. Leipold's Band will furnish the music.

Zeppelin Raid Cost London 50 Lives and Millions of Damage

Rotterdam Passengers Declare Reports of Official Press Bureau Did Not Tell the Whole Truth.

BOMBS DROP NEAR HISTORIC PLACE

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 20.—Bombs were dropped within a few blocks of the bank of England and the residence of the Lord Mayor of London in the great Zeppelin raid on the night of September 8, according to ... who reached here today Holland-American liner, with the first uncensored ... the attack on the English capital.

Though the Press buraeu reported that only twenty persons were killed, it is undrestood in London that the Zeppelins slew at least fifty, the passengers reported. Property damage is estimaet dat at least $10,000,000.

A whole block of buildings in the heart of London was destroyed by fire. Other big blazes occurred in widely separated parts of the city.

The greatest property damage was done on Wood street where the great wholesale dry goods houses are located. Fronts of several great buildings were blown out, others collapsed when bombs fell through the roof.

One passenger dccalred the property damage on Wood street alone totalled $10,000,000.

Stories told by all the passengers confirmed the United Press story on the day following the raid that the Trafalgar square section of London and the heart of the city was under attack.

IOWA SUFFRAGISTS PLAN CAMPAIGN.

Des Moines, Sept. 20.—Plans for a vigorous campaign in behalf of the equal suffrage amendment, which is to be voted on this state next June, are to be perfected by the Iowa woman suffragists at their state convention which opened here today. The convention will continue two days and will have Charlotte Perkins Gilman, of New York, as its leading speaker.

RECEPTION OF TEACHERS

300,000 Russians In Trap, Fighting To Break Through

PETROGRAD IS CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

(By United Press)

Petrograd, Sept. 20.— Three hundred thousand Russian troops falling back from the region of Vilna are under heavy attacks on both flanks by the Germans who are making herculean efforts to surround them. Their position is more critical than that of any Russian army since the great Austro-German campaign began, but ever, confidence was expressed here today that the Russians either will make good their retirement without being forced into a general battle, or failing to do this, will smash their way out of the German trap.

The Germans have suffered enormous losses in the past few days fighting in their attempts to encircle the Russian Vilna army. Cavalry forces attacking the right of the retiring ... are being mowed down by Russian artillery, but persist in their attacks.

The Bavarians attempting to cut off the Russian retreat from the south are within a few miles of the Lida railway, but are meeting with most stuoborn resistance.

Berlin, Sept. 20.—German troops have inflicted another severe defeat upon the Russians southwest of Dvinsk while the encircling movement around Vilna continues. The Russians have been driven back from the river Auxiandrok region toward the bridge head at Dvinsk, the war office announced this afternoon.

Both the Hesperian and Ordina cases are now regarded as settled and an agreement between the United States and Germany on the ... incident will end the submarine controversy, it was stated semi-officially today. It is believed here that Washington will accept the German statement that the Hesperian was not attacked by any German submarine, but probably was a mine victim.

WANT BETTER COTTON PRICES.

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Sept. 20.—The National Farmers' Union meets here tomorrow "to fix a reasonable price for cotton." President C. S. Barrett, of the union, declares that not a farmer in the entire South ever succeeded in borrowing a dollar of the $500,000,000 which Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo announced a year ago was ready to loan to the cotton producers. Unless the farmers succeed in obtaining the money this year, he contends, the business world will suffer. Twelve and a half cents per pond is the price that will probably be fixed.

BAND CONCERT TO BE GIVEN BY THE FIFTH REGIMENT

Will Play Impromptu Concert In Front of Progress Office As Returns Come IN

Everyone Invited to See the Primary Returns Flashed on the Screen Tomorrow Night.

Tomorrow night the famous Leipold Fifth Regiment band will be on hand when the primary returns are received at The Progress office. No formal program will be given, but the usual excellence of this bands offerings may be expected.

The concert will begin at eight o'clock, at which time the first election returns should be flashed on the screen, and will continue just as long as Dr. Leipold and his musicians can be pursuaded to furnish diversion between times.

The band stand will not be erected because of the narrowness of the street, but the band will find ample room in the crowd which it is expected to come downtown to see how the famous fifty-five fare.

For this occasion The Progress is having a special trunk line installed in the office, which will insure uninterrupted service with all points in the county from which returns will be received. The stereoptican machine which will flash the news to the people in the street has been kindly loaned by the Y. M. C. A.

From present indications it will be possible to learn the result of the primares before a very late hour, as arrangements have been made throughout the county for prompt reporting of the count in the various precincts.

PRESBYTERIANS HOLD BIG RALLY DAY SERVICE SUNDAY

Sunday School Attendance Record Broken and Day is Great Success

Yesterday the Presbyterians held their Rally Day services in the church and all its activities. Large crowds attended all the services and the day was a great success.

At the morning church service the auditorium was filled to it's capacity. Dr. Reeves preached a powerful sermon on the text "His Greatest Love." After the sermon Mr. Van Osten, the new professor of mathematics in the High school sang a beautiful solo. Mr. Van Osten has a tenor voice of excellent quality

There were 500 present at the Sunday school, which is the largest number that ever attended this esrvice in the history of the church. The average attendance for the year which ended August, 1915, was 328, showing an increase of 22 per cent. over the preceding year the average of which was 268.

At Young People's meeting at seven o'clock, Rally Day was also observed, and a record breaking crowd was present. Miss Annie Norris sang a beautiful solo.

At the evening service Dr. Reeves preached another strong sermon, his text being "Surprises of the Judgment." The choir sang as an anthem the sextette from Lucia.

Defeats Miss Dyer on Country Club Links Saturday.

The finals of the Women's golf tournament were played off Saturday morning and afternoon and resultde in Mrs. Shillingford winning the cup from Miss Dyer. The match was very exciting, the players being tied up to the last hole, which was made by Mrs. Shillingford in 4 strokes and Miss Dyer in 5. The medal score was as follows: Going out, Mrs. Shillingford 70, Miss Dyer 69. Coming in Mrs. Shillingford 69, Miss Dyer 70, making a total of 136 for both players.

After the tournament Mr. Douglas the donor of the cup made the presentation speech and presented the cup to Mrs. Shillingford, who will hold it until next year when it will again be contested for.

GOETHALS AT ENGINEERS' MEETING.

(By United Press)

SanFrancisco, Sept. 20.—General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal and the world's most famous engineering expert, was the principal speaker today at the opening of the International Engineering Congress which will continue for six days. General Goethals, honorary president of the congress, described in detail the technical and physical difficulties encountered in the design and construction of the canal.

Ten thousand civil, mining, mechanical, electrical, military and naval engineers from every state in the union and from forty foreign nations, representing hundreds of engineering societies and associations, are here to attend the congress.

The congress sessions are in eleven groups, or sub-congresses, conducted under the auspices of these five national associations: The American Society of Civil Engineers; The American Institute of Mining Engineers; The American Society of Mechanical Engineers; The American Institute of Electrical Engineers; and the Naval Architects and Marine Engineers.

It is estimated that the reports of the various committees and individuals on al lphases of modern engineering of all classes, will fill a dozen volumes.

Twenty-two different problems encountered in the building of the Isthmian water way, will be discussed by men who were on General Goethal's force. The general sessions will also deal with waterways and irrigation, railways, municipal engineering, materials of engineering construction, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, naval and military engineering.

TEXAS WOULD OUST THE BREWERIES.

Austin, Sept. 20.—The proceedings instituted by the state of Texas against many of the leading breweries of the state, in which the taking of testimony has been in progress for many weeks, were advanced another step today, when Judge Pierce, of Hopkins County, came to Austin to hear legal objections on the part of the defense. The state alleges that the breweries have repeatedly violated the anti-trust laws and the laws prohibiting contributions for political purposes by corporations. The state prays for the recovery of penalties aggregating millions of dollars and the forfeiture of the charters of the defendant companies. The cases are docketed for trial at the January term of court.

CAN'T THE COURT HOUSE BE PAINTED WITHOUT SCANDAL

First Effort In Thirteen Years Results In Mix-up Over the Paint and Color

Swift Moving Gossip Threatens to Prevent Completion of Application of Buff and Olive.

It seemes a pity that the poor old court house cannot get its face washed and don a new suit of clothes without having the scornful finger of scandal pointed at it.

With its last adventure in pigment still fresh, after thirteen years in the memory of the town, it hit another high spot last week, and surrounded itself with gossip and a streak of red in an effort to get itself covered with a modest buff and olive garment of linseed oil and lead.

According to the best of the court house dopesters, this is the way it all happened:

When the contract was awarded to the painter, the commissioners had not determined just what particular color they wanted the building painted. All they knew was that the specifications called for paint of a certain quality. A meeting with the inspector, Robinson, appointed to oversee the work of the contractor, was made for a certain morning. When the time arrived only one commissioner was on the job, the others apparently having forgotten that they were to meet to determine the important matter of color.

The contractor, eager to complete the task, settled the question for himself, and went about the work of giving the old seat of justice a flashy coat of red—venetian red—and on the venetian hangs the scandal.

Venetian red sells for about one-sixth the price of lead, and when red flahsed on the court house, red also flashed in the eye of divers and sundry overseers who had in mind something about forty-two hundred dollars ,or some such paltry sum, over which there was what might be termed a legal argument thirteen years ago.

Ha, Ha! Venetian red!

When the absent commissioners returned the terrible news was broken to them ,and forthwith they saw red —or rather, couldn't see red. A hurried conference resulted in stopping all work on the building until a full meeting of the commissioners could determine upon just what sort of frills were wanted, and it stayed stopped until this morning.

Buff and olive. As reported Saturday, that is to be the color, and it is being daubed over the face of the bricks today.

Now it is said that the venetian red that was being put on the building was not the common or garden variety with which one paints barns, but a high quality of the same done up with linseed oil and a lot of other fixings which made it almost as costly as the lead and old called for in the specifications would have been.

However that be, the fact remains that the contractor has been set right on the job, and buff and olive it will be.

Clearfield An Easy Winner In Opening Game of the Season

Holds Osceola Mills Scoreless While Score of Forty-six Piled Up by the Local Players

LINE DEVELOPES STRONG OFFENSIVE WORK

The High school opened the football season last Saturday with an easy vitory over the Osceola Mills team. Score 46-0. The coaching of Reading was evident in the careful attention paid by the local team to interference, running and the goal kicking of Mitchell.

Osceola won the toss and defended the west goal, returning Lynn's kick-off to the 10 yard line. The strength of Clearfield's line was soon made apparent by repulsing the several attacks made on it by the Osceola Mills field, resulting in Osceola being held for downs and Clearfield receiving the ball on their 15 yard line. It was only a matter of a few moments until Martin carried the ball across the line for Clearfield's first touchdown.

Lynn again kicked off, Osceola muffed the ball and Jones recovered it for Clearfield. By a spectacular 40 yard run Martin again carried the ball over the line, scoring the second touchdown for the home team and Mitchell kicked the goal making the score 13-0.

At the beginning of the second quarter Clearfield had the ball on their opponent's 3 yard line. Cochran scored through tackle and Mitchell missed the goal, making the score 19-0. Cochran again scored after a series of long runs by Mitchell, Martin and West after Torrence had recovered a fumbled punt of Osceola's. Time was called with the score 26-0 at the end of the first half.

The second half started with several of the substitutes in, but Clearfield continued her scoring just the same. During this half Austin made two touchdowns and Mitchell one, and Mitchell kicked two goals making the score 46-0 in Clearfield's favor.

Line up:

Clearfield		Osceola
Lynn	L. E.	Mong
Philips	L. T.	Hendricks
Jones	L. G.	Bowling
Rishel	C.	Fryling
Patchin	R. G.	Prologo

Look Out For Students' Health

(By United Press)

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 20.—At the opening of Indiana University today President William Lowe Bryan announced that he will devote a large part of his time in a larger program for student health. His plan includes the services of a university physician, hospital service for students, frequent inspection of boarding houses and a campaign for better housing.

BABIES IN BIG PRIZE SHOW.

Springfield, Sept. 20.—Several hundred of the niftiest babies ever congregated in one spot in Illinois—representatives of the state from Galena to Cairo and very particularly including Chicago—are on display at the Illinois State Fair, which got under way here today. The perfect baby contest is attracting much attention, especially from the fond mothers, but it is only one of many attractive features that go to make up the big fair this year. The exhibition halls and pavilions are filled to overflowing with displays designed especially for women as instructive agencies. All of the various state institutions and departments of the state schools and government are represented. The ... program will be inaugurated Monday and on the same day the judging of stock in the Coliseum will begin.

The hospital will be glad to receive any donations of vegetables and jelly and preserves. Any person who wishes to make such donations can obtain jars and glasses at the hospital.

BOOKED TO "STOP THE WAR."

It is reported that the publishers of foreign-language newspapers in the United States are planning to send William Jennings Bryan to Europe to "try to stop the war," and that Mr. Bryan is favorably considering the acceptance of the mission. What he is to do in order to achieve success is not stated in the published account of the scheme, but presumably it is proposed that he go about making speeches.

Speeches to the men in arms would not be permitted and the members of responsible governments probably could not be induced to listen. Miss Jane Addams, at the head of a delegation of peace-congress ladies, has already made or attempted to make a speech to all the rulers of the warring nations, firmly requesting "an immediate cessation of hostilities." The only perceptible result was a lecturing tour by Miss Addams on her return to American shores. A second American peace-maker's activities would doubtless be necessarily confined to addresses to civilians, and there is no reason to believe that such sentiment as his eloquence might arouse, when not regarded as an impertinence, would in the least avail. Mr. Bryan's devotion to peace, regardless of circumstances or consequences, has already led him into more than one misguided act, but it is difficult to believe that he can make up his mind to attempt a repetition of Miss Jane Addams' hopeless experiment which was doomed from the outset and merely contributed to the gaity of nations.

THE DIPLOMATIC MAZE.

The diplomatic situation may be summed up in the statement that we have assurances of one kind and conditions another. Two weeks ago we were still talking contentedly of President Wilson's great diplomatic achievement in finally securing a promise from Germany that her submarines would attack no more merchant ships without warning. Some of us had even reached the conclusion that it was "the greatest diplomatic achievement of the United States in a generation," and then, all at once, astonished and bewildered, we began to realize that, to all appearances the great achievement was ineffective.

Things happened, and then other things happened, seeming to show conclusively that, after all, Germany had not ceased to depart from the old accepted rules of war on the sea. Count von Bernstorff was politely asked to throw light on this contradictory situation. Thereupon, with more persuasive words and optimistic smiles, he seemed to seek to fill the diplomatic atmosphere with very fine dust, producing no light but making more promises. His latest utterance, according to report, is another bid for time. He counsels the American people to be patient, says that during the next two weeks his lips will be sealed pending discussion at Berlin, and promises that at the end of that period all the difficulties between this country and Germany will be settled. In other words, not until more than a month has passed after the date of Germany's widely heralded surrender to American demands can we expect to know what Germany will really decide to do in a matter that was supposed to be settled; the question is still pending and the issue is unknown.

It would appear that there is room only for conjecture as to what is or has been the real situation. Did Germany instruct von Bernstorff to take the stiffness out of the American back by smooth speeches in order to gain time for further consideration, or merely with a view to evad the issue altogther as long as possible? Or did von Bernstorff, recognizing the gravity of the situation, exceed his instructions, and is he now trying to bring his government to his view? Or is Berlin still skeptical and therefore indifferent, remembering the assurances of Ambassador Dumba concerning intimations from the then Secretary Bryan to the effect that the American notes on the Lusitania case were intended merely for home consumption and that there was no real intention of holding the Teutons to "strict accountability?" Was Berlin really misled by the alleged Bryan intimations, and does the Kaiser's government still think that American diplomats are mere stage players in this matter, aiming solely for effect at home, and therefore may be safely disregarded?

Whatever may be the true answers to these questions, it is at least certain that the American people are weary of waiting for an adjustment and that the prospects of ultimate peace are not brightened by the vague but persistent sense of humiliation that is now added to their

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

Tarnopol, from which city, along a line southward, the Russians recently developed a new and strong offensive, is described in the war primer issued today by the National Geographic Society:

"Tarnopol, a small city in Galicia, situated on the northern Sereth, abut 76 miles east-southeast of Lemberg, marks the most recent line of determined Russian attack upon the Teutonic allies. This invasion of latest interest is reported to be concentrated upon a front from Tarnopol, southward, to Trembowla, a distance of 20 miles along the many bends of the Sereth River. Some 70 miles to the north and east of Tarnopol, beyond the fortress of Dubno, the Austro-Germans are endeavoring to cut their way south behind the Russian advance. There is a safe line of communications open to the Slavs, however, south to Odessa and the Black Sea, and southeast over a well-laid railway network.

"The country along this Galician battlefront is broken and irregular. The cities and towns here are few and scattered, while the land around is poor. Agriculture yields niggardly, and the Ruthenians, who are in overwhelming majority in this part of the crownland, are among the poorest of Austria's subjects, their economic condition being about on a par with that of the Slovaks of northern Hungary. More than 35 miles to the south of this line, the Dniester River, flowing southeastward, makes an acute angle with the northern Sereth. The Lipa River, upon whose banks the Russians made such a long dogged stand, parallels the northern Sereth, and lies about 30 miles to the westward of the stream under present assault.

"Tarnopol, like all other towns in this region, is an unimportant place. It has a small industry, whose products are mainly for the country around, of grain-milling and the preparation of wax and honey. It is also a market for agricultural produce and horses. Its population of about 32,000 is constituted of 40 per cent. Jews and the rest Ruthenians. Once, the city was a formidable fortress, and, as an outpose city of the Poles, it did valiant service for the military Republican monarchy. In return for the hard knocks that the town absorbed, the Polish kings conferred upon it valuable privileges. In the heyday of Poland, Tarnopol seemed to be a city with a future, but its promise was never realized."

WANT LABOR MONUMENT.

(By United Press)

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20.—Labor chiefs in Pennsylvania were planning today to launch their campaign for contributions to a million dollar fund to build a great monument to labor—the first in the world—in Pittsburgh. The plan(launched by Mrs. Enoch Rauch at a Labor Day gathering here, is to be put before Andrew Carnegie, Charles M. Schwab, Henry Phillips and others who have made millions from industrial plants in Pittsburgh territory.

And Still They Come---The Handsome New Fall Styles

ECONOMY

This is an economical yer—nearly everyone is practicing economy, and that very fact has brought more people here than ever before. They have come to realize that to buy on an economical basis does not always mean purchasing at a sale. The quality of the merchandise you buy and the service it gives are as essential to economy as low price. What you buy here is of dependable quality, sure to give the service you have a right to expect. Furthermore, our regular prices are as low as equal goods can be sold for and still give us a legitimate profit. It is our idea to charge as little as we can and give you as much as possible for your money.

Buying our merchandise consistently at regular prices means economy to you in the long run.

These new styles, while not radically different from those included in our first display, show many interesting developments of recent fashions. The suits, with their comfortably wide skirts and sensible jackets, are more becoming than suits of past seasons. The dresses, too, are more than usually practical because they are more than usually simple in style and trimming. Many of the new separate coats are in redingote styles from three-quarters to full lengths.

Our display of Women's apparel grows more interesting from day to day. New styles are continually arriving and the assortment is thus kept right up-to-the-minute.

GREAT INTEREST CENTERS AROUND OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

Never were such captivating Hats; never so becoming, so delightfully different; never such a satisfying showing as ours.

We want you to see the many beautiful creations if only to get the correct style trend for the new season.

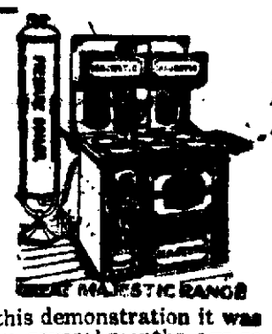
ANNOUNCEMENT



We are pleased to annouuce that return date has been secured with Prof. Joseph Becker, the Chef of world-wide fame who so entertaining demonstrated his ability on the "GREAT MAJESTIC MALLEABLE and CHARCOAL IRON RANGE," at our store some months ago.

Prof. Becker will be with us again the entire week of October 18th to 23d in a similar demonstration. In order to secure Prof. Becker for this demonstration it was necessary for us to contract with him several months ago, so great is the demand for his services. A great factor in Prof. Becker's success is, that he never demonstrates on any other than a "GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE," of which there are over THREE HUNDRED in use in this community.

We feel sure the ladies of Clearfield will appreciate this return date and any who are thinking of buying a range will wait for this demonstration, when a special representative from the factory together with Prof. Becker will explain how the "GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE" is made, inside and outside. How the oven is heated, how the top is heated. Why the "GREAT MAJESTIC" lasts so long and uses so little fuel.

Don't overlook a chance to KNOW things shown by those WHO KNOW.

JAPANESE TRY TO SMUGGLE SELVES INTO WASHINGTON

Party of Six Has Exciting Time Before Immigration Officers Tax Them in Tow

Picture Brides Losing Popularity in Japan —New Photography Too True Says Seattle Editor.

(By United Press)

Tokio, Aug. 14.—(By Mail.)—Six Japanese sailors in court yesterday told an exciting story and a sad one of their futile efforts to smuggle themselves into the United States. They finished their story in jail, a place less disagreeable than several into which their misfortunes had thrown them in the course of the past year.

The six are the remnant of the crew of theecockle boat Daiyei Maru, sixty tons, which left Japan in June, 1914. Ostensibly the craft was headed for the North Pacific fishing grounds. She carried an abundant stock of rice, soy, and other Japanese foods.

Right from her home port the Daiyei's troubles began. Battered by bad weather she had to put back for repairs before getting out of sight of land. On the second attempt twenty days out the captain died. Forty-three days out while rough weather continued, Unimak Island, in the Aleutian chain, was reached. A submerged rock, as the sailors endeavored to make a landing, tore the Daiyei to pieces.

The sailors were thrown on the shore and into the hands of a party of Eskimos. The natives were kind and made themselves hosts to the refugees from that day, August 19, until May 5. In the spring the Eskimos started on their annual trip to the mainland to get ammunition and fishing gear. A storm drove them back and the son of the Japanese captain was drowned.

The first evidence of good luck was seen in the arrival of a British steamer, May 5, to trade for furs. The Japanese ask for passage to Seattle, apparently leading that officer to believe America was their home, and although they could not promise to pay for their passage, it was given them.

But on the way one of the sailors, let slip the fact that they were endeavoring to smuggle themselves into the United States and were not honest fishermen at all. The welcome hands that awaited the sailors at Seattle were those of the immigration authorities. After a few days the Japanese consul found passage for them on a returning vessel.

Mr. S. Yamakani, editor of a Seattle Japanese newspaper, and an enterprising man, departed a few days ago for America in charge of eleven Japanese girls, who are prepared to embark on the sea of matrimony as soon as they reach land. Eleven fond husbands are waiting, though they haven't seen the brides, nor even a picture o fthem. Mr. S. Yamakani has taken the place of pictures.

It seems that within the higher development of photography in Japan that method of introduction between brides and grooms has not always given satisfaction. Indeed, according to reports that have come back from America, it is declared that some of the least beautiful brides took the most beautiful pictures.

And then, too, a man doesn't always marry a girl just because she ispretty. Some men want more sterling qualities. The necessity for Yamankani arose and he filled it. He agreed to pick Japan's fairest for Seattle's Japanese bachelors and now he is headed for that city confident he is prepared to please all eleven of the men on the dock.

ANNIVERSARY OF PAOLI MASSACRE.

West Chester, Sept. 20.—The 138th anniversary of the "Massacre of Paoli," one of the darkest events in the whole history of the American Revolution, was marked today by a pilgrimage of Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution to the monument grounds near Malvern. It was on the night of September 20, 1777, that the troops commanded by "Mad Anthony" Wayne, retreating after the battle of Brandywine, were surprised by the enemy. The night was intensely dark, and the British and Hessians fell upon the Americans, without a moment's warning, and bayonetted them. Only the genius of Gen. Wayne prevented the destruction of the entire body of troops. After the Continental troops had retreated, the sick and wounded were cruelly put to death and the camp burned.

MONTANA STATE FAIR AT HELENA.

Helena, Sept. 20.—The prosperity prevailing in Montana is reflected in the State Fair which opened here today with a larger number and a greater variety of exhibits in all departments than ever displayed here before. Particular notable are the displays of live stock and agricultural products. The amusement and entertainment features also are more numerous than heretofore. The management has provided an attractive program of races—trotting, pacing, running and automobile—for each day of the week. The city already is filling with visitors from every part of the state.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Pittsburgh—Although women rarely figure in the transactions of the steel market, especially where governments are concerned, Mme. Dorece Millerand, an accredited agent of the French government, has placed some enormous orders here. She closed a deal with a local steel company for 50,000 tons of steel billets, the kind used in the making of high velocity projectiles. She was also seeking to buy 100,000 tons more of the same material, but found the local mills unable to handle her big order. The appearance of Mme. Millerand created a stir in the steel trade. A beautiful and refined lady, she talked steel with a full knowledge of the industry and excellent acquaintance with business methods.

Seattle—Miss Ethel Hunley Caldwell, formerly of Oakland, Cal., has become dean of women at the University of Washington. Her work in the public schools of Oakland attracted the attention of prominent educators, including Dr. Henry Suzzalo, the new president of the University of Washington.

New York—Whether Sarah Bernhardt will ever be seen again on the American stage is greatly in doubt, owing to conflicting reports from France. The famous actress is said to have had trouble with her new wooden limb, or at least has found it hard to manage. On the other hand, she denies that this is the reason why she postponed her journey to America. Mme. Bernhardt was to have opened an engagement here today, but at the last moment cancelled her sailing.

Duluth, Minn.—Topics that will run the gamut from social problems to citizenship and highest education have been outlined in the programme fo rthe 21st annual conveniton of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, which opened here today. Daily sessions will be held until Friday. Instead of the annual reception, the Duluth hostesses will introduce a delightful novelty by arranging a federation luncheon on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood, of St. Cloud, president of the Minnesota Federation, will be the principal speaker at the big session tomorrow evening. Mrs. Philip N. Moore, of St. Louis, a former president of the General Federation, and Mrs. Fannie French Morse, superintendent of the Girls' Training School at Sauk Center, will be the other speakers. Wednesday morning Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation, will be a speaker.

Los Angeles—To be acting mayor of a great city like Los Angeles, even for one day, is a big distinction. Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsey, the city's one councilwoman, achieved this honor on September 9th. Mayor Sebastin was called out of town, and so Mrs. Lindsey took office with full powers as the executive. This is said to be the first time a woman has acted as head of a municipality of the size of Los Angeles.

Boston—The heroism of American women in the afflicted, war-torn, foreign lands is every day reflected in some new avenue of accomplishment. One of the most interesting stories from Asia Minor is that of Miss Mary L. Graffam, principal of the girls' high school at Sivas, and a graduate of Columbia Teachers' College. Last winter, she accompanied a relief party to stem the typhus outbreak at Erzroom. Returning to her little school, she met another emergency. The Armenian population was being deported. Finding that her pupils were thus forced to quit the town, she sought permission to go with them. She bought a spring wagon and stocked it with medicines and food. After some weeks a message was received by the American Board of Foreign Missions that Miss Graffam had reached Malatia, some five days' ride from Sivas. She is administering relief and steadying the minds of the frightened people.

Atlanta—With the Dixie Highway, running from Chicago to Miami, ready to be dedicated and opened for practical purposes some time in November, the clubwomen of the states from the Gulf to the Great Lakse are organizing for the purpose of permanently beautifying the long highway. The initial organization was perfected at Guyton, Ga., where about 50 women banded themselves together to beautify the new highway.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY IN THE WAR.

September 20, 1914.—The Germans continued their bombardment of Rheims; a French squadron captured Lissa Island, in the Adriatic; a force of allies was landed in Dalmatia; German cruiser Koenigsburg damaged the British cruiser Pegasus in Zanzibar harbor.

CLEARFIELD FIREMEN PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO KLINE

Endorse Him For County Treasurer at Recent Meeting

Al Kline, the popular Clearfield business man, who is a candidate for the office of county treasurer on the Republican ticket, received a warm endorsement from the Firemen of Clearfield at a recent meeting of that organization. Recognizing his sterling worth, the Firemen pledged themselves to vote for Mr. Kline at the primaries, and to give him their undivided support should he win the nomination next week. This endorsemet was entirely unsolicited by Mr Kline, and is a distinct compliment to him which may serve as a guide to the voters of the county who may want to know how he stands in his own home town. Mr. Kline is the only one of the 55 candidates now in the field who has been similarly honored.

Mr. Kline stands for a straight business administration of the county's affairs. A successful business man himself, he is qualified in every respect for the position to which he aspires, and will render efficient honest and loyal service to the county if he is elected.

SHOW OF AMERICAN CHEMICAL PRODUCTS.

New York, Sept. 20.—The extent of the resources of the United States for producing dyestuffs and potash and other products for which this country has hitherto depended so much upon Germany is shown in the first National Exposition of Chemical Industries, which opened in the Grand Central Palace today for a week's engage. In connection with the exhibition there will be daily conferences at which addresses will be made by authorities in various branches of the chemical industry.

THE SOUTH BEND MALLEABLE RANGE

Buy One This Week and get the Ware FREE

ONE CENT A MEAL FOR ONE YEAR.

In almost every house there are practically one thousand meals a year prepared on the stove. Many people hesitate about paying five or ten dollars more to secure a reliable range—one that will cook these thousand meals a year with the least trouble and at the lowest cost. If you should add one cent to the cose of every meal for the first year only, you would soon make up the difference between the cheap range and the range that will last a lifetime.

Suppose your cheap range uses one cent's more of fuel in cooking each meal, or only three cents' worth more a day. In one year this range has cost you ten dollars extra—ten dollars more for fuel than the better range. Every year means that much more money burned up.

Suppose the better range does cost ten dollars more at first than the ch[illegible]. The extra cost is nothing—it amoun[illegible] one cent a meal. It will save you one c[illegible]al in fuel alone. In one year it will save the extra cost, and in ten years it will save you one hundred dollars, not counting what you save missing big repair bills.

You can open a bank account in your kitchen by buying a South Bend Malleable Range.

An expert demonstrator from the factory will be at our store for one week. He will tell you about the Patented Aluminum-Fused Copper-Bearing Flues. And prove to you why it is the best range made.

FOOTBALL NOTES

(By United Press)

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The dull thud of the booted pig-skin was the dominant note in the middle western sporting world today for coaches of the nine universities composing the western conference tokk sharge of their squads for the first time. At all of the schools preliminary practice has been held for several weeks but today the coaches were permitted by the conference rules to go on the field for the first practice.

The question that looms highes today was whether Illinois, champions of 1914, will repeat. With almost a veteran team, little Zuppke, the "football wizard of the west" will attempt to do what no other big nine team with the exception of Minnesota has ever done—win the championship two successive years.

The cloud on the horizon of the Sucker school, according to the bear stories emnating from champaign, is in eligibility. However, Zuppke asserts that none of his men will be out on account of poor grades. Fogue, all-western half back and candidate for the all-American, and Potsy Clark, his fellow star, will form the nucleus of this years' Illinois machine.

If the season brings defeat to the Illinois, early season drops gives Minnesota, Wisconsin and Chicago the preference for the title. Minnesota grew steadily stronger as the season advanced last year. With a large squad of old men back it appears that Coach Williams' eleven must be counted in the fight. No big nine title is ever settled without Wisconsin being a factor. Led by Coach Juneau the gophers are doped as much stronger than last year when they tide with Chicago for third place. Chicago is the lone big nine team that appears weaker. The Maroons lost Des Jardien and Gray last yea rbut the loss of stars has yet to daunt Coach Stagg.

If the hard luck—you must call it such—which pursued Iowa last year is made to turn, the Hawkeyes with their powerful and bewildering plays that spread across the entire gridiron will be worthy foes of any school. Purdue is not doped to rise much above the fifth place which it held last year, for as yet no game has been foun dto take the place of Oliphant, now a mainstay of the army eleven. Coach Wilce of Ohio state found eight of his regulars gone at the start of practice today and appear in sore straits.

Not less bright than is the outlook for the big nine leaders is the outlook for the two tailend teams of last year, Northwestern and Indiana. Both lead by Yale men changed their style last year to an adapted eastern form. Of course both suffered for a year but this year the conference is looking with interest and some fear on the products of Murphy at Northwestern an dChilds at Indiana. The announcement that Jim Thorpe, the famous Indian athlete, will assist Childs at Indiana has sent the Hoosier stock several points higher.

34 YEARS SINCE GARFIELD'S DEATH.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Tomorrow will be the 34th anniversary of the death of James A. Garfield, the twentieth president of the United States and the second president to die at the hands of an assassin. Many of the older residents of Washington still remember the excitement that reigned in the national capital on July 2, 1881, when Charles Guiteau, a disappointed office seeker, shot Mr. Garfield in the railway station as the president was about ot leave the city to meet friends at Williams College. With Mr. Garfield at the time he was shot was James G. Blaine. For eighty days the wounded president hovered between life and death, peacefully passing away late on the evening of September 19 at Long Branch, N. J., where had been taken shortly before.

COMPLETE ELECTION RETURNS AT THE PROGRESS OFFICE TUESDAY NIGHT

Through the courtesy of the H. & C. Telephone Company, The Progress will receive complete returns of the Primaries from every cinct in the county tomorrow evening. The Progress Office will be the Official Headquarters for the reception of returns, and no returns will be received at the office of the county commissioners, or elsewhere as heretofore.

For the accomodation of all who wish to receive the returns, it has been arranged to flash each message on a screen in front of the Progress Office. This will be done with a Stereopticon machine, and will make it possible to give the news to several hundred people at once. Please do not ask for the returns by 'phone. Come down town. Leipold's Band will furnish the music.

Zeppelin Raid Cost London 50 Lives and Millions of Damage

Rotterdam Passengers Declare Reports of Official Press Bureau Did Not Tell the Whole Truth.

BOMBS DROP NEAR HISTORIC PLACE

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 20.—Bombs were dropped within a few blocks of the bank of England and the residence of the Lord Mayor of London in the great Zeppelin raid on the night of September 8, according to p[illegible] who reached here today Holland-American liner, with the first uncensored s[illegible] the attack on the English capital.

Though the Press bureau reported that only twenty persons were killed, it is undrestood in London that the Zeppelins slew at least fifty, the passengers reported. Property damage is estimaet dat at least $10,000,000.

A whole block of buildings in the heart of London was destroyed by fire. Other big blazes occurred in widely separated parts of the city.

The greatest property damage was done on Wood street where the great wholesale dry goods houses are located. Fronts of several great buildings were blown out, others collapsed when bombs fell through the roof.

One passenger decalred the property damage on Wood street alone totalled $10,000,000.

Stories told by all the passengers confirmed the United Press story on the day following the raid that the Trafalgar square section of London and the heart of the city was under attack.

IOWA SUFFRAGISTS PLAN CAMPAIGN.

Des Moines, Sept. 20.—Plans for a vigorous campaign in behalf of the equal suffrage amendment, which is to be voted on this state next June, are to be perfected by the Iowa woman suffragists at their state convention which opened here today. 300,000 Russians In Trap, Fighting To Break Through

PETROGRAD IS CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

(By United Press)

Petrograd, Sept. 20.— Three hundred thousand Russian troops falling back from the region of Vilna are under heavy attacks on both flanks by the Germans who are making herculean efforts to surround them. Their position is more critical than that of any Russian army since the great Austro-German campaign began, but ever, confidence was expressed here today that the Russians either will make good their retirement without being forced into a general battle, or failing to do this, will smash their way out of the German trap.

The Germans have suffered enormous losses in the past few days fighting in their attempts to encircle the Russian Vilna army. Cavalry forces attacking the right of the retiring [illegible] are being mowed down by Russian artillery, but persist in their attacks.

The Bavarians attempting to cut off the Russian retreat from the south are within a few miles of the Lida railway, but are meeting with most stuoborn resistance.

Berlin, Sept. 20.—German troops have inflicted another severe defeat upon the Russians southwest of Dvinsk while the encircling movement around Vilna continues. The Russians have been driven back from the [illegible] region towards a bridge head at Dvinsk, the war office announced this afternoon.

Both the Hesperian and Ordona cases are now regarded as settled and an agreement between the United States and Germany on the [illegible] incident will end the submarine controversy, it was stated semi-officially today. It is believed here that Washington will accept the German statement that the Hesperian was not attacked by any German submarine, but probably was a mine victim.

WANT BETTER COTTON PRICES.

(By United Press)

Atlanta, Sept. 20.—The National Farmers' Union meets here tomorrow "to fix a reasonable price for cotton." President C. S. Barrett, of the union, declares that not a farmer in the entire South ever succeeded in borrowing a dollar of the $500,000,000 which Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo announced a year ago was ready to loan to the cotton producers. Unless the farmers succeed in obtaining the money this year, he contends, the business world will suffer. Twelve and a half cents per pond is the price that will probably be fixed.

BAND CONCERT TO BE GIVEN BY THE FIFTH REGIMENT

Will Play Impromptu Concert in Front of Progress Office As Returns Come IN

Everyone Invited to See the Primary Returns Flashed on the Screen Tomorrow Night.

Tomorrow night the famous Leipold Fifth Regiment band will be on hand when the primary returns are received at The Progress office. No formal program will be given, but the usual excellence of this bands offerings may be expected.

The concert will begin at eight o'clock, at which time the first election returns should be flashed on the screen, and will continue just as long as Dr. Leipold and his musicians can be pursuaded to furnish diversion between times.

The band stand will not be erected because of the narrowness of the street, but the band will find ample room in the crowd which it is expected to come downtown to see how the famous fifty-five fare.

For this occasion The Progress is having a special trunk line installed in the office, which will insure uninterrupted service with all points in the county from which returns will be received. The stereoptican machine which will flash the news to the people in the street has been kindly loaned by the Y. M. C. A.

From present indications it will be possible to learn the result of the primares before a very late hour, as arrangements have been made throughout the county for prompt reporting of the count in the various precincts.

PRESBYTERIANS HOLD BIG RALLY DAY SERVICE SUNDAY

Sunday School Attendance Record Broken and Day is Great Success

Yesterday the Presbyterians held their Rally Day services in the church and all its activities. Large crowds attended all the services and the day was a great success.

At the morning church service the auditorium was filled to it's capacity. Dr. Reeves preached a powerful sermon on the text "His Greatest Love." After the sermon Mr. Van Osten, the new professor of mathematics in the High school sang a beautiful solo. Mr. Van Osten has a tenor voice of excellent quality

There were 500 present at the Sunday school, which is the largest number that ever attended this esrvice in the history of the church. The average attendance for the year which ended August, 1915, was 328, showing an increase of 22 per cent. over the preceding year the average of which was 268.

At Young People's meeting at seven o'clock, Rally Day was also observed, and a record breaking crowd was present. Miss Annie Norris sang a beautiful solo.

At the evening service Dr. Reeves preached another strong sermon, his text being "Surprises of the Judgment." The choir sang as an anthem the sextette from Lucia.

Defeats Miss Dyer on Country Club Links Saturday.

The finals of the Women's golf tournament were played off Saturday morning and afternoon and resultde in Mrs. Shillingford winning the cup from Miss Dyer. The match was very exciting, the players being tied up to the last hole, which was made by Mrs. Shillingford in 4 strokes and Miss Dyer in 5. The medal score was as follows: Going out, Mrs Shillingford 70, Miss Dyer 69. Coming in Mrs. Shillingford 69, Miss Dyer 70, making a total of 136 for both players

After the tournament Mr. Douglas the donor of the cup made the presentation speech and presented the cup to Mrs. Shillingford, who will hold it until next year when it will again be contested for.

GOETHALS AT ENGINEERS' MEETING.

(By United Press)

SanFrancisco, Sept. 20.—General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal and the world's most famous engineering expert, was the principal speaker today at the opening of the International Engineering Congress which will continue for six days. General Goethals, honorary president of the congress, described in detail the technical and physical difficulties encountered in the design and construction of the canal.

Ten thousand civil, mining, mechanical, electrical, military and naval engineers from every state in the union and from forty foreign nations, representing hundreds of engineering societies and associations, are here to attend the congress.

The congress sessions are in eleven groups, or sub-congresses, conducted under the auspices of these five national associations: The American Society of Civil Engineers; The American Institute of Mining Engineers; The American Society of Mechanical Engineers; The American Institute of Electrical Engineers; and the Naval Architects and Marine Engineers.

It is estimated that the reports of the various committees and individuals on al lphases of modern engineering of all classes, will fill a dozen volumes.

Twenty-two different problems encountered in the building of the Isthmian water way, will be discussed by men who were on General Goethal's force. The general sessions will also deal with waterways and irrigation, railways, municipal engineering, materials of engineering construction, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, naval and military engineering.

TEXAS WOULD OUST THE BREWERIES.

Austin, Sept. 20.—The proceedings instituted by the state of Texas against many of the leading breweries of the state, in which the taking of testimony has been in progress for many weeks, were advanced another step today, when Judge Pierce, of Hopkins County, came to Austin to hear legal objections on the part of the defense. The state alleges that the breweries have repeatedly violated the anti-trust laws and the laws prohibiting contributions for political purposes by corporations. The state prays for the recovery of penalties aggregating millions of dollars and the forfeiture of the charters of the defendant companies. The cases are docketed for trial at the January term of court.

CAN'T THE COURT HOUSE BE PAINTED WITHOUT SCANDAL

First Effort In Thirteen Years Results In Mix-up Over the Paint and Color

Swift Moving Gossip Threatens to Prevent Completion of Application of Buff and Olive.

It seemes a pity that the poor old court house cannot get its race washed and don a new suit of clothes without having the scornful finger of scandal pointed at it.

With its last adventure in pigment still fresh, after thirteen years in the memory of the town, it hit another high spot last week, and surrounded itself with gossip and a streak of red in an effort to get itself covered with a modest buff and olive garment of linseed oil and lead.

According to the best of the court house dopesters, this is the way it all happened:

When the contract was awarded to the painter, the commissioners had not determined just what particular color they wanted the building painted. All they knew was that the specifications called for paint of a certain quality. A meeting with the inspector, Robinson, appointed to oversee the work of the contractor, was made for a certain morning. When the time arrived only one commissioner was on the job, the others apparently having forgotten that they were to meet to determine the important matter of color.

The contractor, eager to complete the task, settled the question for himself, and went about the work of giving the old seat of justice a flashy coat of red—venetian red—and on the venetian hangs the scandal.

Venetian red sells for about one-sixth the price of lead, and when red flahsed on the court house, red also flashed in the eye of divers and sundry overseers who had in mind something about forty-two hundred dollars ,or some such paltry sum, over which there was what might be termed a legal argument thirteen years ago.

Ha, Ha! Venetian red!

When the absent commissioners returned the terrible news was broken to them ,and forthwith they saw red —or rather, couldn't see red. A hurried conference resulted in stopping all work on the building until a full meeting of the commissioners could determine upon just what sort of frills were wanted, and it stayed stopped until this morning.

Buff and olive. As reported Saturday, that is to be the color, and it is being daubed over the face of the bricks today.

Now it is said that the venetian red that was being put on the building was not the common or garden variety with which one paints barns, but a high quality of the same done up with linseed oil and a lot of other fixings which made it almost as costly as the lead and old called for in the specifications would have been.

However that be, the fact remains that the contractor has been set right on the job, and buff and olive it will be.

Clearfield An Easy Winner In Opening Game of the Season

Holds Osceola Mills Scoreless While Score of Forty-six Piled Up by the Local Players

LINE DEVELOPES STRONG OFFENSIVE WORK

The High school opened the [illegible] ball season last Saturday with an easy vitory over the Osceola [illegible] team. Score 46-0. The coaching [illegible] Reading was evident in the careful attention paid by the local team to interference, running and the goal kicking of Mitchell.

Osceola won the toss and defended the west goal, returning Lynn's kick-off to the 10 yard line. The strength of Clearfield's line was soon made apparent by repulsing the several attacks made on it by the Osceola kicker, resulting in Osceola being held for downs and Clearfield receiving the ball on their 15 yard line. It was only a matter of a few moments until Martin carried the ball across the line for Clearfield's first touchdown.

Lynn again kicked off, Osceola muffed the ball and Jones recovered it for Clearfield. By a spectacular 65 yard run Martin again carried the ball over the line, scoring the second touchdown for the home team and Mitchell kicked the goal making the score 13-0.

At the beginning of the second quarter Clearfield had the ball on their opponent's 3 yard line. Cochran scored through tackle and Mitchell missed the goal, making the score 19-0. Cochran again scored after a series of long runs by Mitchell, Martin and West after Townsend had recovered a fumbled pass of Osceola's. Time was called with the score 26-0 at the end of the first half.

The second half started with several of the substitutes in, but Clearfield continued her scoring just the same. During this half Austin made two touchdowns and Mitchell one, and Mitchell kicked two goals making the score 46-0 in Clearfield's favor.

Line up:

Clearfield		Osceola
Lynn	L. E.	Mayo
Philips	L. T.	Hendrickson
Jones	L. G.	Reichley
Rishel	C.	Fryling

Greek Steamer Burning at Sea Aided by Tuscania

(By United Press)

Halifax, Novo Scotia, Sept. 20.—The Anchor liner, Tuscania, has rescue d408 passengers and the crew of the Greek steamer, Athinai which burned at sea. Only one life was lost according to a wireless message received here this afternoon. The British steamer Roumania Prince, also responded to the Greek steamers distress signals and took off sixty one passengers. The transfer was made in mid-ocean while the flames were raging furiously in the Athinai's holds. The Athinai was abandoned and is supposed to have sunk. The Athinai left New York Thursday.

Look Out For Students' Health

(By United Press)

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 20.—At the opening of Indiana University today President William Lowe Bryan announced that he will devote a large part of his time in a larger program for student health. His plan includes the services of a university physician, hospital service for students, frequent inspection of boarding houses and a campaign for better housing

BABIES IN BIG PRIZE SHOW.

Springfield, Sept. 20.—Several hundred of the niftiest babies ever congregated in one spot in Illinois—representatives of the state from Galena to Cairo and very particularly including Chicago—are on display at the Illinois State Fair, which got under way here today. The perfect baby contest is attracting much attention, especially from the fond mothers, but it is only one of many attractive features that go to make up the big fair this year. The exhibition halls and pavilions are filled to overflowing with displays designed especially for value as instructive agencies. All of the various state institutions and departments of the state schools and government are represented. The [illegible] program will be inaugurated Monday and on the same day the judging of stock in the Coliseum will begin.

The hospital will be glad to receive any donations of vegetables and jelly and preserves. Any person who wishes to make such donations can obtain jars and glasses at the hospital.

BOOKED TO "STOP THE WAR."

It is reported that the publishers of foreign-language newspapers in the United States are planning to send William Jennings Bryan to Europe to "try to stop the war," and that Mr. Bryan is favorably considering the acceptance of the mission. What he is to do in order to achieve success is not stated in the published account of the scheme, but presumably it is proposed that he go about making speeches.

Speeches to the men in arms would not be permitted and the members of responsible governments probably could not be induced to listen. Miss Jane Addams, at the head of a delegation of peace-congress ladies, has already made or attempted to make a speech to all the rulers of the warring nations, firmly requesting "an immediate cessation of hostilities." The only perceptible result was a lecturing tour by Miss Addams on her return to American shores. A second American peace-maker's activities would doubtless be necessarily confined to addresses to civilians, and there is no reason to believe that such sentiment as his eloquence might arouse, when not regarded as an impertinence, would in the least avail. Mr. Bryan's devotion to peace, regardless of circumstances or consequences, has already led him into more than one misguided act, but it is difficult to believe that he can make up his mind to attempt a repetition of Miss Jane Addams' hopeless experiment which was doomed from the outset and merely contributed to the gaity of nations.

THE DIPLOMATIC MAZE.

The diplomatic situation may be summed up in the statement that we have assurances of one kind and conditions another. Two weeks ago we were still talking contentedly of President Wilson's great diplomatic achievement in finally securing a promise from Germany that her submarines would attack no more merchant ships without warning. Some of us had even reached the conclusion that it was "the greatest diplomatic achievement of the United States in a generation," and then, all at once, astonished and bewildered, we began to realize that, to all appearances the great achievement was inaffective.

Things happened, and then other things happened, seeming to show conclusively that, after all, Germany had not ceased to depart from the old accepted rules of war on the sea. Count von Bernstorff was politely asked to throw light on this contradictory situation. Thereupon, with more persuasive words and optimistic smiles, he seemed to seek to fill the diplomatic atmosphere with very fine dust, producing no light but making more promises. His latest utterance, according to report, is another bid for time. He counsels the American people to be patient, says that during the next two weeks his lips will be sealed pending discussion at Berlin, and promises that at the end of that period all the difficulties between this country and Germany will be settled. In other words, not until more than a month has passed after the date of Germany's widely heralded surrender to American demands can we expect to know what Germany will really decide to do in a matter that was supposed to be settled; the question is still pending and the issue is unknown.

It would appear that there is room only for conjecture as to what is or has been the real situation. Did Germany instruct von Bernstorff to take the stiffness out of the American back by smooth speeches in order to gain time for further consideration, or merely with a view to evad the issue altogther as long as possible? Or did von Bernstorff, recognizing the gravity of the situation, exceed his instructions, and is he now trying to bring his government to his view? Or is Berlin still skeptical and therefore indifferent, remembering the assurances of Ambassador Dumba concerning intimations from the then Secretary Bryan to the effect that the American notes on the Lusitania case were intended merely for home consumption and that there was no real intention of holding the Teutons to "strict accountability?" Was Berlin really misled by the alleged Bryan intimations, and does the Kaiser's government still think that American diplomats are mere stage players in this matter, aiming solely for effect at home, and therefore may be safely disregarded?

Whatever may be the true answers to these questions, it is at least certain that the American people are weary of waiting for an adjustment and that the prospects of ultimate peace are not brightened by the vague but persistent sense of humiliation that is now added to their

Tarnopol, from which city, along a line southward, the Russians recently developed a new and strong offensive, is described in the war primer issued today by the National Geographic Society:

"Tarnopol, a small city in Galicia, situated on the northern Sereth, abut 76 miles east-southeast of Lemberg, marks the most recent line of determined Russian attack upon the Teutonic allies. This invasion of latest interest is reported to be concentrated upon a front from Tarnopol, southward, to Trembowla, a distance of 20 miles along the many bends of the Sereth River. Some 70 miles to the north and east of Tarnopol, beyond the fortress of Dubno, the Austro-Germans are endeavoring to cut their way south behind the Russian advance. There is a safe line of communications open to the Slavs, however, south to Odessa and the Black Sea, and southeast over a well-laid railway network.

"The country along this Galician battlefront is broken and irregular. The cities and towns here are few and scattered, while the land around is poor. Agriculture yields niggardly, and the Ruthenians, who are in overwhelming majority in this part of the crownland, are among the poorest of Austria's subjects, their economic condition being about on a par with that of the Slovaks of northern Hungary. More than 35 miles to the south of this line, the Dniester River, flowing southeastward, makes an acute angle with the northern Sereth. The Lipa River, upon whose banks the Russians made such a long dogged stand, parallels the northern Sereth, and lies about 30 miles to the westward of the stream under present assault.

"Tarnopol, like all other towns in this region, is an unimportant place. It has a small industry, whose products are mainly for the country around, of grain-milling and the preparation of wax and honey. It is also a market for agricultural produce and horses. Its population of about 32,000 is constituted of 40 per cent. Jews and the rest Ruthenians. Once, the city was a formidable fortress, and, as an outpose city of the Poles, it did valiant service for the military Republican monarchy. In return for the hard knocks that the town absorbed, the Polish kings conferred upon it valuable privileges. In the heyday of Poland, Tarnopol seemed to be a city with a future, but its promise was never realized."

WANT LABOR MONUMENT.

(By United Press)

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20.—Labor chiefs in Pennsylvania were planning today to launch their campaign for contributions to a million dollar fund to build a great monument to labor—the first in the world—in Pittsburgh. The plan(launched by Mrs. Enoch Rauch at a Labor Day gathering here, is to be put before Andrew Carnegie, Charles M. Schwab, Henry Philips and others who have made millions from industrial plants in Pittsburgh territory.

Twenty-Three Years

is a long time for any concern to do business in a city and when the concern happens to be a bank like this, with a multitude of depositors to please, there must be something about it which holds depositors together.

We think its the Courtesy, Security and Friendly Feeling extended to large and small depositors alike. At any rate you are invited to participate in it.

And Still They Come---The Handsome New Fall Styles

ECONOMY

This is an economical yer—nearly everyone is practicing economy, and that very fact has brought more people here than ever before. They have come to realize that to buy on an economical basis does not always mean purchasing at a sale. The quality of the merchandise you buy and the service it gives are as essential to economy as low price. What you buy here is of dependable quality, sure to give the service you have a right to expect. Furthermore, our regular prices are as low as equal goods can be sold for and still give us a legitimate profit. It is our idea to charge as little as we can and give you as much as possible for your money.

Buying our merchandise consistently at regular prices means economy to you in the long run.

These new styles, while not radically different from those included in our first display, show many interesting developments of recent fashions. The suits, with their comfortably wide skirts and sensible jackets, are more becoming than suits of past seasons. The dresses, too, are more than usually practical because they are more than usually simple in style and trimming. Many of the new separate coats are in redingote styles from three-quarters to full lengths.

Our display of Women's apparel grows more interesting from day to day. New styles are continually arriving and the assortment is thus kept right up-to-the-minute.

GREAT INTEREST CENTERS AROUND OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT.

Never were such captivating Hats; never so becoming, so delightfully different; never such a satisfying showing as ours.

We want you to see the many beautiful creations if only to get the correct style trend for the new season.

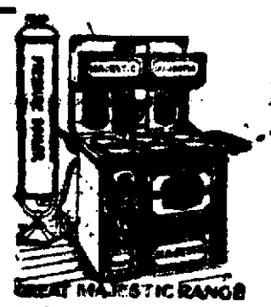
ANNOUNCEMENT



We are pleased to annouuce that return date has been secured with Prof. Joseph Becker. the Chef of world-wide fame who so entertaining demonstrated his ability on the "GREAT MAJESTIC MALLEABLE and CHARCOAL IRON RANGE," at our store some months ago.

Prof. Becker will be with us again the entire week of October 18th to 23d in a similar demonstration. In order to secure Prof. Becker for this demonstration it was necessary for us to contract with him several months ago,so great is the demand for his services. A great factor in Prof. Becker's success is, that he never demonstrates on any other than a "GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE," of which there are over THREE HUNDRED in use in this community.

We feel sure the ladies of Clearfield will appreciate this return date and any who are thinking of buying a range will wait for this demonstration, when a special representative from the factory together with Prof. Becker will explain how the "GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE" is made, inside and outside. How the oven is heated, how the top is heated. Why the "GREAT MAJESTIC" lasts so long and uses so little fuel.

Don't overlook a chance to Know things shown by those WHO KNOW.

JAPANESE TRY TO SMUGGLE SELVES INTO WASHINGTON

Party of Six Has Exciting Time Before Immigration Officers Tax Them in Tow

Picture Brides Losing Popularity in Japan —New Photography Too True Says Seattle Editor.

(By United Press)

Tokio, Aug. 14.—(By Mail.)—Six Japanese sailors in court yesterday told an exciting story and a sad one of their futile efforts to smuggle themselves into the United States. They finished their story in jail, a place less disagreeable than several into which their misfortunes had thrown them in the course of the past year.

The six are the remnant of the crew of theecockle boat Daiyei Maru, sixty tons, which left Japan in June, 1914. Ostensibly the craft was headed for the North Pacific fishing grounds. She carried an abundant stock of rice, soy, and other Japanese foods.

Right from her home port the Daiyei's troubles began. Battered by bad weather she had to put back for repairs before getting out of sight of land. On the second attempt twenty days out the captain died. Forty-three days out while rough weather continued, Unimak Island, in the Aleutian chain, was reached. A submerged rock, as the sailors endeavored to make a landing, tore the Daiyei to pieces.

The sailors were thrown on the shore and into the hands of a party of Eskimos. The natives were kind and made themselves hosts to the refugees from that day, August 19, until May 5. In the spring the Eskimos started on their annual trip to the mainland to get ammunition and fishing gear. A storm drove them back and the son of the Japanese captain was drowned.

The first evidence of good luck was seen in the arrival of a British steamer, May 5, to trade for furs. The Japanese ask for passage to Seattle, apparently leading that officer to believe America was their home, and although they could not promise to pay for their passage it was given them.

But on the way one of the sailors, let slip the fact that they were endeavoring to smuggle themselves into the United States and were not honest fishermen at all. The welcome hands that awaited the sailors at Seattle were those of the immigration authorities. After a few days the Japanese consul found passage for them on a returning vessel.

Mr. S. Yamakani, editor of a Seattle Japanese newspaper, and an enterprising man, departed a few days ago for America in charge of eleven Japanese girls, who are prepared to embark on the sea of matrimony as soon as they reach land. Eleven fond husbands are waiting, though they haven't seen the brides, nor even a picture o fthem. Mr. S. Yamakani has taken the place of pictures.

It seems that within the higher development of photography in Japan that method of introduction between brides and grooms has not always given satisfaction. Indeed, according to reports that have come back from America, it is declared that some of the least beautiful brides took the most beautiful pictures.

And then, too, a man doesn't always marry a girl just because she is pretty. Some men want more sterling qualities. The necessity for Yamankani arose and he filled it. He agreed to pick Japan's fairest for Seattle's Japanese bachelors and now he is headed for that city confident he is prepared to please all eleven of the men on the dock.

ANNIVERSARY OF PAOLI MASSACRE.

West Chester, Sept. 20.—The 138th anniversary of the "Massacre of Paoli," one of the darkest events in the whole history of the American Revolution, was marked today by a pilgrimage of Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution to the monument grounds near Malvern. It was on the night of September 20, 1777, that the troops commanded by "Mad Anthony" Wayne, retreating after the battle of Brandywine, were surprised by the enemy. The night was intensely dark, and the British and Hessians fell upon the Americans, without a moment's warning, and bayonetted them. Only the genius of Gen. Wayne prevented the destruction of the entire body of troops. After the Continental troops had retreated, the sick and wounded were cruelly put to death and the camp burned.

MONTANA STATE FAIR AT HELENA.

Helena, Sept. 20.—The prosperity prevailing in Montana is reflected in the State Fair which opened here today with a larger number and a greater variety of exhibits in all departments than ever displayed here before. Particular notable are the displays of live stock and agricultural products. The amusement and entertainment features also are more numerous than heretofore. The management has provided an attractive program of races—trotting, pacing, running and automobile—for each day of the week. The city already is filling with visitors from every part of the state.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Pittsburgh—Although women rarely figure in the transactions of the steel market, especially where governments are concerned, Mme. Dorece Millerand, an accredited agent of the French government, has placed some enormous orders here. She closed a deal with a local steel company for 50,000 tons of steel billets, the kind used in the making of high velocity projectiles. She was also seeking to buy 100,000 tons more of the same material, but found the local mills unable to handle her big order. The appearance of Mme. Millerand created a stir in the steel trade. A beautiful and refined lady, she talked steel with a full knowledge of the industry and excellent acquaintance with business methods.

Seattle—Miss Ethel Hunley Caldwell, formerly of Oakland, Cal., has become dean of women at the University of Washington. Her work in the public schools of Oakland attracted the attention of prominent educators, including Dr. Henry Suzzalo, the new president of the University of Washington.

New York—Whether Sarah Bernhardt will ever be seen again on the American stage is greatly in doubt, owing to conflicting reports from France. The famous actress is said to have had trouble with her new wooden limb, or at least has found it hard to manage. On the other hand, she denies that this is the reason why she postponed her journey to America. Mme. Bernhardt was to have opened an engagement here today, but at the last moment cancelled her sailing.

Duluth, Minn.—Topics that will run the gamut from social problems to citizenship and highest education have been outlined in the programme fo rthe 21st annual conveniton of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, which opened here today. Daily sessions will be held until Friday. Instead of the annual reception, the Duluth hostesses will introduce a delightful novelty by arranging a federation luncheon on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood, of St. Cloud, president of the Minnesota Federation, will be the principal speaker at the big session tomorrow evening. Mrs. Philip N. Moore, of St. Louis, a former president of the General Federation, and Mrs. Fannie French Morse, superintendent of the Girls' Training School at Sauk Center, will be the other speakers. Wednesday morning Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation, will be a speaker.

Los Angeles—To be acting mayor of a great city like Los Angeles, even for one day, is a big distinction. Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsey, the city's one councilwoman, achieved this honor on September 9th. Mayor Sebastin was called out of town, and so Mrs. Lindsey took office with full powers as the executive. This is said to be the first time a woman has acted as head of a municipality of the size of Los Angeles.

Boston—The heroism of American women in the afflicted, war-torn, foreign lands is every day reflected in some new avenue of accomplishment. One of the most interesting stories from Asia Minor is that of Miss Mary L. Graffam, principal of the girls' high school at Sivas, and a graduate of Columbia Teachers' College. Last winter, she accompanied a relief party to stem the typhus outbreak at Erzroom. Returning to her little school, she met another emergency. The Armenian population was being deported. Finding that her pupils were thus forced to quit the town, she sought permission to go with them. She bought a spring wagon and stocked it with medicines and food. After some weeks a message was received by the American Board of Foreign Missions that Miss Graffam had reached Malatia, some five days' ride from Sivas. She is administering relief and steadying the minds of the frightened people.

Atlanta—With the Dixie Highway, running from Chicago to Miami, ready to be dedicated and opened for practical purposes some time in November, the clubwomen of the states from the Gulf to the Great Lakse are organizing for the purpose of permanently beautifying the long highway. The initial organization was perfected at Guyton, Ga., where about 50 women banded themselves together to beautify the new highway.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY IN THE WAR.

September 20, 1914.—The Germans continued their bombardment of Rheims; a French squadron captured Lissa Island, in the Adriatic; a force of allies was landed in Dalmatia; German cruiser Koenigsburg damaged the British cruiser Pegasus in Zanzibar harbor.

CLEARFIELD FIREMEN PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO KLINE.

Endorse Him For County Treasurer at Recent Meeting

Al Kline, the popular Clearfield business man, who is a candidate for the office of county treasurer on the Republican ticket, received a warm endorsement from the Firemen of Clearfield at a recent meeting of that organization. Recognizing his sterling worth, the Firemen pledged themselves to vote for Mr. Kline at the primaries, and to give him their undivided support should he win the nomination next week. This endorsemet was entirely unsolicited by Mr Kline, and is a distinct compliment to him which may serve as a guide to the voters of the county who may want to know how he stands in his own home town. Mr. Kline is the only one of the 55 candidates now in the field who has been similarly honored.

Mr. Kline stands for a straight business administration of the county's affairs. A successful business man himself, he is qualified in every respect for the position to which he aspires, and will render efficient honest and loyal service to the county if he is elected.

New York, Sept. 20.—The extent of the resources of the United States for producing dyestuffs and potash and other products for which this country has hitherto depended so much upon Germany is shown in the first National Exposition of Chemical Industries, which opened in the Grand Central Palace today for a week's engage. In connection with the exhibition there will be daily conferences at which addresses will be made by authorities in various branches of the chemical industry.

THE SOUTH BEND MALLEABLE RANGE

Buy One This Week and get the Ware FREE

ONE CENT A MEAL FOR ONE YEAR.

In almost every house there are practically one thousand meals a year prepared on the stove. Many people hesitate about paying five or ten dollars more to secure a reliable range—one that will cook these thousand meals a year with the least trouble and at the lowest cost. If you should add one cent to the cose of every meal for the first year only, you would soon make up the difference between the cheap range and the range that will last a lifetime.

Suppose your cheap range uses one cent's more of fuel in cooking each meal, or only three cents' worth more a day. In one year this range has cost you ten dollars extra—ten dollars more for fuel than the better range. Every year means that much more money burned up.

Suppose the better range does cost ten dollars more at first than the cheap [illegible]. The extra cost is nothing—it amounts to one cent a meal. It will save you one cent a meal in fuel alone. In one year it will save the extra cost, and in ten years it will save you one hundred dollars, not counting what you save missing big repair bills.

You can open a bank account in your kitchen by buying a South Bend Malleable Range.

An expert demonstrator from the factory will be at our store for one week. He will tell you about the Patented Aluminum-Fused Copper-Bearing Flues. And prove to you why it is the best range made.

FOOTBALL NOTES

(By United Press)

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The dull thud of the booted pig-skin was the dominant note in the middle western sporting world today for coaches of the nine universities composing the western conference tokk sharge of their squads for the first time. At all of the schools preliminary practice has been held for several weeks but today the coaches were permitted by the conference rules to go on the field for the first practice.

The question that looms highest today was whether Illinois, champion of 1914, will repeat. With almost a veteran team, little Zuppke, the "football wizard of the west" will attempt to do what no other big nine team with the exception of Minnesota has ever done—win the championship two successive years.

The cloud on the horizon of the Sucker school, according to the bear stories emnating from champaign, is in eligibility. However, Zuppke asserts that none of his men will be out on account of poor grades. Pogue, all-western half back and candidate for the all-American, and Potsy Clark, his fellow star, will form the nucleus of this years' Illinois machine.

If the season brings defeat to the Illinois, early season drops gives Minnesota, Wisconsin and Chicago the preference for the title. Minnesota grew steadily stronger as the season advanced last year. With a large squad of old men back it appears that Coach Williams' eleven must be counted in the fight. No big nine title is ever settled without Wisconsin being a factor. Led by Coach Juneau the gophers are doped as much stronger than last year when they tide with Chicago for third place. Chicago is the lone big nine team that appears weaker. The Maroons lost Des Jardien and Gray last yea rbut the loss of stars has yet to daunt Coach Stagg.

If the hard luck—you must call it such—which pursued Iowa last year is made to turn, the Hawkeyes with their powerful and bewildering plays that spread across the entire gridiron will be worthy foes of any school. Purdue is not doped to rise much above the fifth place which it held last year, for as yet no game has been foun dto take the place of Oliphant, now a mainstay of the army eleven. Coach Wilce of Ohio state found eight of his regulars gone at the start of practice today and appear in sore straits.

Not less bright than is the outlook for the big nine leaders is the outlook for the two tailend teams of last year, Northwestern and Indiana. Both lead by Yale men changed their style last year to an adapted eastern form. Of course both suffered for a year but this year the conference is looking with interest and some fear on the products of Murphy at Northwestern an dChilds at Indiana. The announcement that Jim Thorpe, the famous Indian athlete, will assist Childs at Indiana has sent the Hoosier stock several points higher.

34 YEARS SINCE GARFIELD'S DEATH.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Tomorrow will be the 34th anniversary of the death of James A. Garfield, the twentieth president of the United States and the second president to die at the hands of an assassin. Many of the older residents of Washington still remember the excitement that reigned in the national capital on July 2, 1881, when Charles Guiteau, a disappointed office seeker, shot Mr. Garfield in the railway station as the president was about ot leave the city to meet friends at Williams College. With Mr. Garfield at the time he was shot was James G. Blaine. For eighty days the wounded president hovered between life and death, peacefully passing away late on the evening of September 19 at Long Branch, N. J., where had been taken shortly before.

Growth, The Reward of Service

Not only has the County National Bank kept pace with the industrial development of Clearfield County, but it has helped materially in that development.

Its part has been to aid legitimate enterprise by making loans as required to the business men of the district.

It has found its reward in the steady growth of its own business, until now it is the largest bank in this section of Pennsylvania, with deposits of over $2,000,000 and resources of more than $4,000,000.

It is better equipped than ever before to serve its customers. Your account is invited.

THE MEN'S STORE

this, Men, is pure class

We pored for hours over styles and patterns to get it for you—but it's here, and in the most complete assortment of Men's Fixings to be found in Clearfield.

Listen:

The Kuppenheimer Clothes this year are the ultimate—at their price—in the season's offerings in outer rainment for men. They are in the styles which Kuppenheimer originates, and which others are prone to follow, and include in fabrics the best offerings of the mills.

More:

Michael Sterns Clothing supplements the first line—sort of a second defense. And, believe us, they are intrenched behind everything that makes for quality in clothes—National popularity—honest values—style unquestoued, and a range of selection that will please the most exacting.

And this:

We have the "Styleplus"—considered by many the acme of the clothes maker's art.

These three lines, including overcoats, will offer you the thing you want at the price you want to pay. See them before you even think of buying fall suits.
